Excerpt from The Commercial Course in Practical Book-Keeping and Business Forms: For Collegiate Institutes, High and Public Schools 1. It has been the aim of the authors to present the work of this new Commercial Course in such a way as to give the student a thorough knowledge of the Principles of Book-keeping, and also to show him the necessity for variety in the form and use of books according to the requirements of different business houses. Excerpt from Public School Book-Keeping and Business Forms The chapter on Values was inserted to aid us in throwing off the yoke of Single Entry. Anyone can instantly grasp the idea of getting and giving things, and the imagination can be better employed than in dressing money and merchandise in the guises of debtors and creditors. A system of recording the getting and giving of values is what we should define as Double Entry. A system of recording the debtors and the creditors is Single Entry. A hybrid of these two systems is the one usually taught and named Double Entry. Like many hybrids, it may be preferable, but the straight original systems are more easily mastered by beginners. It is hoped that it is scientifically correct to say that promises are a second factor in the mechanism of exchange, and if so we are absolutely certain that no distinction should be made between written and unwritten ones, and further we have no hesitation in saying that cheques and other bills of exchange are promises. Some of the minor changes that appear to be innovations were 'not made to fit a fad theory. Most teachers and accountants had dropped the atrophied Dr. And To in Double Entry long ago. The stereotyped manner of filling up the explanation column in the ledger had passed away, and if there is no useful explanation to make it is better to leave the column blank. Balance account, which never made its appearance in a business man's ledger, has been excluded from the pages of the Text Book. Personal accounts are not balanced and ruled off at the end of a set, because it is not customary to close them at the end of a business year. In the matter of drafts, we have endeavored to follow Canadian business practice rather than devise puzzle journal entries. The payee of a draft is either the drawer himself or his banker. J. Gray does not draw on R. White in favor of S. Brown, yet in examination papers we find Gray of Windsor draws on White of Montreal in favor of Brown of Winnipeg; (i) give Gray's journal entry, (ii) give White's entry, (iii) give Brown's entry. Gray might write anything, for he is evidently ignorant of business methods. What the other two might write we shall not say, because we are not aware of any business channels by which this extraordinary draft could get round its course. We have also excluded the convenient sight draft and the ubiquitous order. It seems strange that any one should lead pupils to believe that freight could be paid with a sight draft on Mr. Anybody of Anywhere. It is well known that station agents will not take cheques unless marked, except from business houses in whose standing they have perfect faith.
